SERIOUS RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN AUSTRIAN CAPITAL

HUNGRY MOBS RAID BAKERIES AND STONE PALACES OF EMPEROR AND PREMIER.

(By the Associated Press)
London, June 20.—Serious rioting broke out in Vienna yesterday, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam. Mobs broke into a number of bakeries, stoned the premier's residence and one of the wings of the Hofburg palace, residence of the Emperor, the message adds. Cavalry troops are being rushed to the capital to restore order. Martial law is a possibility. The rioting was in protest against the newly reduced bread ration, the allowance being fixed at half a pound per week for each person.

STOCK YARDS UNDER LICENSE

PRESIDENT ISSUES DRASTIC ORDER ON HANDLING OF LIVE STOCK.

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, June 20.—All stock yards in the United States today were ordered by President Wilson to be put under federal license, a presidential proclamation being issued requiring license to be obtained from the food administration on or before July 25. Commission men, order buyers, traders and speculators in live cattle, sheep, or goats, will also be required to have licenses.

INDIANA DEMOCRATS BEHIND PRESIDENT

Indianapolis, Ind., June 20.—Declaring in their platform that "the immediate purpose of the Democratic party is to win the war," the Democrats of Indiana in state convention here today, adopted a platform and listened to addresses by Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, former Governor Samuel M. Ralston and Representative Scott Farris of Oklahoma, chairman of the Congressional Democratic Campaign Committee. The contests for places on the ticket were enlivened by squabbles with the delegation.

Declaring that "the exigencies of the times call for the renomination and election in 1920 of Woodrow Wilson," former Governor Ralston, permanent chairman of the convention, fired the delegates and audience with enthusiasm that brought them to their feet, waving flags and cheering. The demonstration lasted for several minutes.

Support only the Democrats who are wholeheartedly behind the president and the way he proposes to win the war, Vice President Marshall said. He made his plea for support of the administration at the close of his address, saying that, while he wanted the Democrats to win the coming election "at the risk of being read out of the party," he urged the members in the state to vote against any Democrat "who is not in favor of taking the German language out of the schools of Indiana and welding into a united people by the use of a common language all those who dwell within our borders."

The Republican state convention, which was held here a few weeks ago, received much attention from the president, who declared that it had gone too far in its statement.

AUSTRIAN OFFENSIVE NOW SEEMS DOOMED TO SPEEDY FAILURE.

Repeated Austrian efforts to debouch from the west bank of the river between Montebello and San Dona Di Piave have been completely repulsed and only around Capo Sile have the Austrians made any progress. Heavy fighting continues around Montebello plateau.

The German crown price has not repeated his attacks on the defenses before Rheims where 40,000 of his troops were repulsed with heavy losses in a night attack Tuesday. The front there is again quiet and the French still maintain their positions. Elsewhere on the western front only raiding activities are reported.

Many cars are now on their way from Texas points and demands made on the mills can be met.

In previous years the mills have received ample supply of grain by June 10, but the late rains have delayed thrashing.

The entire management of the Durant-Ada (Abbott) Oil Co. were in Ada Wednesday and as a result of the meeting work on their well in Sec. 24, near Ford Switch, between Ada and Francis, will be resumed Friday and drilling will be carried down from its present depth of 1080 to 2,000 feet, if necessary to go that depth in order to get a paying well. An expert driller from Healdton has been employed to assist in the work. The first thing to be done is to recover a bit that was broken off in the well sometime ago.

The company will make two more locations offsetting this well. A good showing of oil was made sometime ago in the present well and the owners expect to find a good paying sand within 200 feet of the present depth.

The Turks in their raid on an American hospital in Persia are proving themselves apt pupils of their masters the Hunns who delight to attack these places of refuge slaying patients and Red Cross nurses alike.

The government expects every loyal American to go his limit in the purchase of War Stamps. This is one way of feeding the soldier boys and providing them with bullets to shoot at the Hunns. The more intensive the effort at home the quicker the end of the war will come. The soldiers have plenty of pep and it is up to those at home to take on a supply.

Eugene Debs in his recent treasonable speech in Ohio denounced the American government for suppressing free speech, as he termed it. If America loses the war this nation will be governed from Berlin instead of Washington and then how much freedom would Debs and his kind have? They would have to face the alternative of shutting up or spending their lives behind prison bars, even in peace times, and in case of war would be lined up against a wall and shot with little ceremony. And yet Debs denounces this government.

HAS IT EVER OCCURRED TO YOU?
Has it ever occurred to you what might happen were the Germans to march on triumphantly and capture Paris? What would become of France and of the Allied forces there now? What would be the fate of our army? And where the next front line trenches might ultimately be? America is going to make a determined offensive on June 28th—National War Savings Day. President Wilson has proclaimed it and asks every American to sign a pledge to invest a certain amount in War Savings Stamps during the remainder of the year.

It is possible that even were the worst to come and the Germans were to break through they might still be held and the Allied forces saved from annihilation and capture. And so long as the combined allied fleets controlled the seas, Germany would be powerless to attack our shores.

But if the Germans break through on the western front they are almost certain to risk everything in a naval way up on a last clash with England's fleet. And should they by any chance be victorious, the next move would be against America direct. Victory like this would make them madmen in truth.

Distance dwarfs the fray over there for America. It is incomprehensible in all its ruthless horror and suffering so far away. We do not mentally grasp its magnitude. Much less can we visualize it, however much we read, for man has yet adequately described it.

But we all know that we have no desire for a German front along the Alleghenies. We want no invading German hordes upon American soil. We want this war to be fought out in Europe.

And America must do its bit to the utmost, both in men and money.

A responsibility rests on the stay-at-home to invest his or her money in War Savings Stamps. Sign the pledge on June 28th—willingly, gratefully and sincerely.

A DAY AT ITALIAN SEAPLANE CAMP

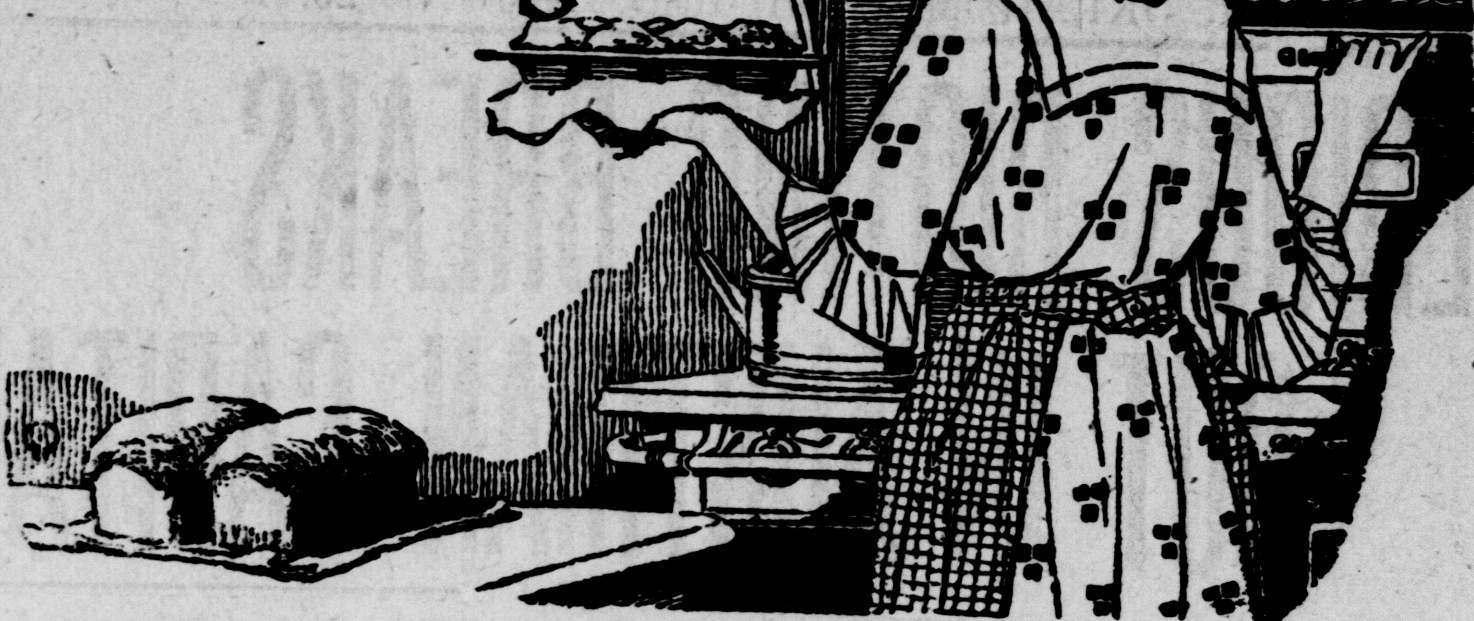

American Seaplane Training Camp Italy, June 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—A flying day on the beach here, with the roaring of the engines of dozens of seaplanes overhead, on the water, starting out or returning, with cries of command in two or three languages, presents a stirring picture.

Life and death hang in the balance every instant. Those in command are far more apprehensive than they care to show. "You can't make omelettes without breaking eggs," they explain, as they watch a machine beginning to nose too soon preparatory to making a landing.

"Look at him, he's sure to cut in on that other fellow and bump him" one exclaims. To the uninitiated the two aviators who are trying to make a landing near the home beach seem to have hundreds of yards of space

the new oil for shortening

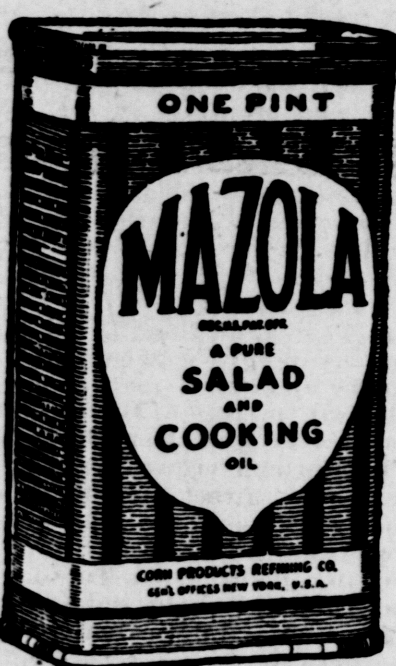

FOLKS should know how light and dainty bread, cake and pastry are when shortened with Mazola—the sweet, wholesome oil from corn. Even little children and people with delicate stomachs can eat and digest them.

Being an oil and not a solid fat, Mazola requires no melting. It is ready to use. Quantities can be measured exactly. It saves time, prevents waste. And in frying and sautéing, Mazola crisps over the food—doesn't soak in and make food heavy and soggy, as animal fat does.

It never carries odors or flavors—even onions or fish—from one food to another—can be used over and over again—to the very last drop. And it saves animal fats.

Mazola is also perfectly delicious on salads.

in which to maneuver but the officers know they have but little space. As the two machines are traveling at 85 to 90 miles an hour on their nose dive, the matter of a possible collision is soon settled, and favorably. Both hit the water safely on their tails—the proper way—and race across the lake snorting like a thousand seahorses, gradually turn, and come home.

So soon as the camp commander in charge of the beach saw the two machines take the water safely, his mind turned to other matters. There is a special instructor who sits with a chart before him with the name of every student flying this day upon it, and he records merit or demerit marks there for every good or bad move the fliers make, and this will be submitted to the commander later and proper observations made to the aviators.

"You must be careful in this business not to discourage the fellows," explained one of the officers. "Their nerves are their courage, their flying ability, and if you take away their courage, their confidence, you may spoil a good aviator."

"Look out there, you'll break those wings," called the American commander as two seaplanes came shooting up the beach, too close together for comfort. The helpers in the water seized them and dragged them in to a safe landing. "That's one of the troubles with having too many machines about," explained the commander. "When a seaplane starts in for the beach the wind cuts off the power and then he can't steer it any longer. When the wind is unfavorable or the water is rough, they have to make several trials sometimes before they can get in head on."

There are men here from Little Rock, Ark., Chicago, Boston—everywhere. "It's pretty dull place here," said one. "When do you think they will send us to the front?"

"Have you heard if we are going on the Italian or the French front?" asked another.

"I wish you'd tell the people at home to write us often," put in a rosy-cheeked ensign of twenty. Somehow, it seems to take a month and more for us to get letters. Tell them, too, we can't write much from here because our letters are censored, and we don't like to have somebody we see every day censor our mail and read our private letters. Most of them were eager to get on the front, and into the fighting. "That's real sport," explained one. One man has been lost at this camp so far, but his death hasn't frightened any of the others. They figured out that perhaps he cut off his power too soon before nosing. Anyway, they don't intend the same accident shall happen to them before the end of the war.

"Then," said one with a laugh, "we're going to shake fighting and take up the safer, passenger-carrying end of the business."

LEST WE FORGET
In a proclamation designating June 28 as National War Savings Day, President Wilson said:

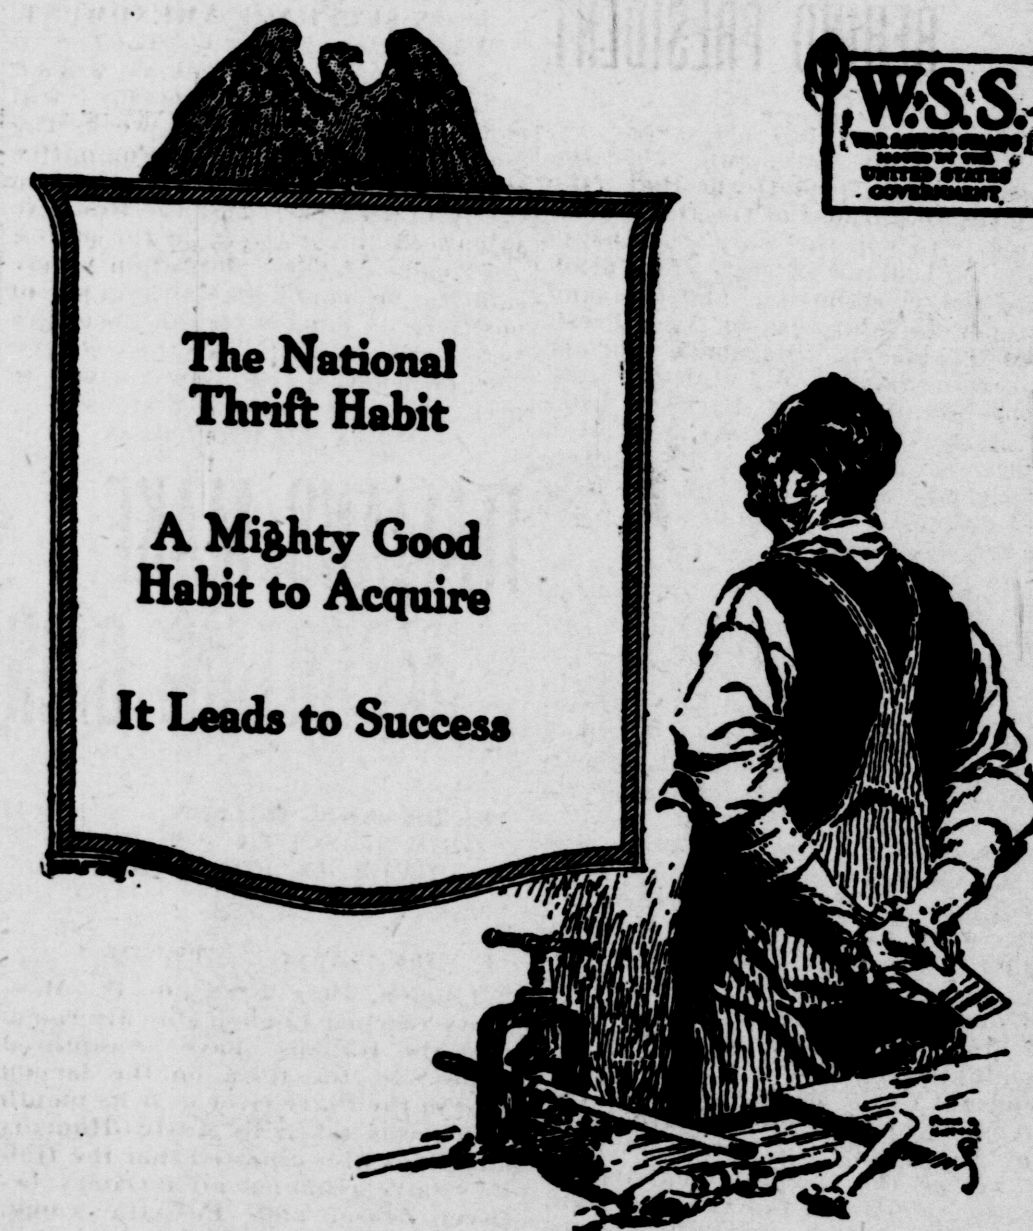

"This war is one of nations—not of armies, and all of our one hundred million people must be economically and industrially adjusted to war conditions of this nation is to play its full part in the conflict. The problem before us is not primarily a financial problem but rather a problem of increased production of war essentials and the saving of the materials and the labor necessary for the support and equipment of our army and navy. Thoughtless expenditure of money for non-essentials uses up the labor for non-essentials uses up the labor of men, the products of the farm, mines and factories and overburdens transportation, all of which must be used to the utmost and at their best for war purposes.

"I earnestly appeal to every man, woman and child to pledge themselves on the 28th day of June to save constantly and to buy as regularly as possible the securities of the government; and to do this as far as possible through membership in War Savings Societies. The 28th of June ends this special period of enlistment in the great volunteer army of production and saving here at home. May there be none unenlisted on that day."

WOODROW WILSON,
President of the United States.

Why Not Elect a Wartime Legislature?

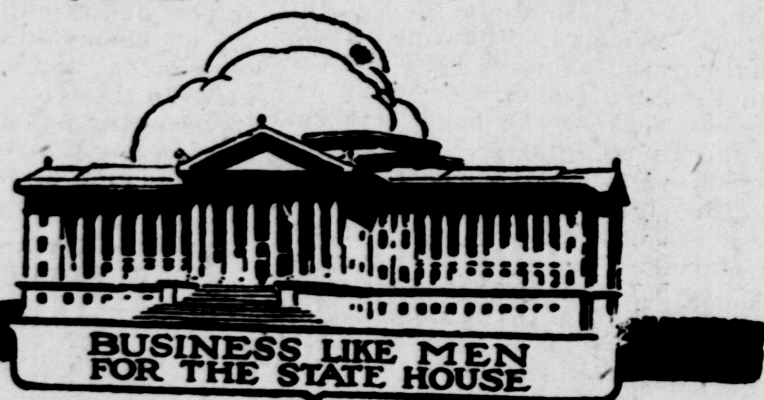

The Winning of the War Largely Depends Upon the Energetic Prosecution of the Oil Business

Our government and its allies are almost entirely dependent on the American supply of crude oil. Oklahoma produces the greatest supply of the grade of crude oil most desired by the government. Most of the battleships and cruisers of our own government and our allies use oil for fuel. The same is true of the great fleet of destroyers which are so effective against the German submarine. The mosquito fleet which so zealously guards our shores depends almost entirely upon our supply of gasoline for fuel. THEREFORE OIL IS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT FACTORS IN PREVENTING THE GERMANS FROM CARRYING THE WAR INTO AMERICA. In France the allied troops are moved to and from the battlefields in motors demanding large supplies of gasoline. The huge tanks of our allies, the British, use gasoline. Everyone knows that the supremacy of the allies in the air is almost entirely due to the superior grade of gasoline which America is able to furnish. A large and constant supply of lubricants is indispensable to the factories making guns and munitions, and to the factories making machines and tools for the manufacture of guns and munitions. The winning of the great war and therefore the perpetuation of our liberties in America depends primarily on four things: First, manpower; second, food; third, munitions; and, fourth, fuel, the latter including oil as one of its most indispensable elements. IT IS UP TO THE OKLAHOMA OIL PRODUCERS TO HAZARD ALL THEIR CAPITAL AND TO BEND THEIR ENTIRE ENERGIES TOWARD MAINTAINING AND INCREASING, IF POSSIBLE, THE SUPPLY OF CRUDE OIL. OTHERWISE THEY FAIL IN THEIR DUTY NOT ONLY TO THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, BUT TO CIVILIZATION.

Why the Oil Business Demands Encouragement at This Time

The oil districts in Oklahoma represent a very large part of the wealth of this state. That being true, the oil producers have made large investments in government bonds and have contributed generously to the Red Cross and other charities, and pay a large proportion of the war taxes. Congress is now on the point of making a large increase in the oil tax. THE OIL PRODUCERS WILL MEET ALL THESE BURDENS PROUDLY. It so happens that the costs of labor and material in the oil fields are practically twice what they were several years ago. Notwithstanding this extensive diversion of capital, which would otherwise go into wild cat development, the oil men throughout the country have made such a patriotic response to the demands of the government for a supply of oil that it is the only one of the vital needs of the government which is not under direct government control. THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IS SATISFIED WITH OUR EFFORTS TO AID IT AND ITS ALLIES. But a greater supply of crude oil is needed. The drilling of known fields will barely maintain the present production, and even that is doubtful. Wild catting must be resorted to to fully meet the needs of the government.

BUSINESS LIKE MEN FOR THE STATE HOUSE

LOCAL BOARDS WARNED AGAINST TALKING

The practice of members of some local draft boards throughout the state of discussing with registrants and citizens the action of the boards with reference to the classification of men has been complained of to E. H. Gipson, adjutant general, and letters being sent out today warning the board members that it is a serious breach of military discipline to discuss such matters. Board members are ordered to quit the practice. "When a majority of your board has spoken, the effect of the action is the same as the judgment of a court should not be commented on by members of the board who do not concur," writes Gipson. "If you are in the army, such action on your part would subject you to court-martial. Again, when your board has acted and an appeal has been taken to the district board, and the district board overrules your board, it is improper for you to comment upon the action of the higher board, as the board constitutes the court of last resort and its action is final. "All actions with reference to classification of registrants should be taken in open board meeting with all members present if possible. It is improper for any member of the board to discuss with the registrant the question of his classification, except when the board is in session. "I would advise that no classification should be made of a registrant, except where at least two members of the board are present, and concur in the classification of the men."

HIGH PRICE OF BOOZE CUTS NUMBER OF SALOONS (By the Associated Press) St. Louis, Mo., June 20.—The ever decreasing number of saloons throughout the country is attributed by the local liquor salesmen to the increase in the price of beer, which has gone from $6 to $12 a barrel in the last two years; the increase in the price of whiskey from $1.50 to $5.50 a gallon in 18 months; decrease in business owing to the war taking many customers for the army; increased restrictions together with fear of national prohibition.

In St. Louis 52 saloons have closed since the first of the year, leaving 1,895. Of the 400 saloons whose renewal of licenses come due July 3, it is expected a considerable number will close.

SUGAR SHORTAGE BECOMING SERIOUS

Oklahoma City, June 20.—The sugar situation has become so serious that additional restrictions on its use will be inaugurated by the state food administration after July 1, according to an announcement made this morning by Judge C. B. Ames, state food administrator. Judge Ames this morning received a lengthy telegram from Herbert Hoover, national food administrator, who went into detail on the sugar crisis and Judge Ames immediately called a conference to be held today when the situation is to be discussed by sugar brokers and others interested. Judge Ames asserted that the sugar deliveries from Cuba are shorter than was first anticipated. The state administrator declared that he is considering the issuance of an order that all manufacturers who use sugar in their products who failed to file their statements with the administration showing the amount of sugar used by them and the quantity they have on hand will not be allowed any more sugar this year. June 17 was the last day that the statements could be received in the office of the administration and it is said that a large number of persons who use sugar for manufacturing purposes failed to file their statements.

STAMPS New Army Song. (By Associated Press) Camp Funston, Kan., June 20.—Apropos to the new record breaking temperatures that have visited the camp recently, a new camp song has emanated from "Somewhere in 'Y' No. 5," and the boys surely come in strong on the chorus when the song is given a turn at the "big sings." The tune is "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" and the chorus runs like this:

In the shade of a telephone pole, Where you comfort your poor, blistered sole, While you're breathing in dust And are full of disgust, Just remember that Berlin's our goal; If your thoughts are inclined to turn blue, Just remember we're all backing you, And while we're eating dust, We'll swear 'Berlin or bust.' In the shade of the telephone pole.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED FOR AMERICAN NAVY

The following information is sent out by the navy department: "All men under and over the draft age, that is 18 to 35 years of age, may enlist at any time. "All men registered under the selective draft may enlist by going to their local boards and obtaining a release stating that they are not required for the present quota. "Special attention is invited to the case of young men that registered on June 5th, 1918. As these men have not been classified all local boards have been ordered by General Crowder to issue releases to these young men in order that they may volunteer for the navy. "At this time there is a splendid chance for advancement in the naval service. We are placing new ships in commission every day and there is an ever increasing demand for officers and men. We are opening up trade schools for the training of these men and a young man may go in the naval service and learn practically any trade that he desires, draw a good salary and if he is ambitious can advance rapidly. His dependents will be taken care of by the government and at the same time render his country a patriotic service."

GERMANY CLINCHING HOLD ON FINLAND

Washington, June 20.—Germany's activities in Finland and the Åland Islands are causing fears among the northern European neutrals that a "Middle Sea of the North" is contemplated by the autocratic Central Powers as an adjunct to their aggressive plans for an economic and military alliance against the world under the name of "Mittel-Europa." "The results obtained by the Germans in the Russian Baltic states give the neutral northern countries much room for after thought, declares Dr. Jur. C. Asche, the Scandinavian economist in an article received here in official dispatches. The operations of the Germans in the Baltic provinces may have consequences which no peace congress ever will have power to efface. "The Germans desire to connect Finland in an economic way with Middle Europe. Finland is a country of raw materials. If Germany becomes master of the Baltic, and Finland becomes an independent state with economic connections with Middle Europe, Russia's wish to extend toward the west is probably once for all made impossible. "In order for Russia to get on her feet again, she must find an outlet for her natural riches, and when she has done so, she must find a market for her goods. There is a market for the Middle European group, especially Germany, and by aid of Scandinavia. In this way an interchange of trade between Scandinavia, the Middle European group, and Russia and the entire Mohammedan world would be possible, and not simply a future dream. "With regard to Norway, it is not out of the question that this country will have to consider seriously whether it will not have to lean more to the east and south than now is the case. "Bearing on the same subject is an abstract from Affairsvarlden, a leading Swedish trade journal: "Germany's actions on Åland and in Finland, and the inclusion of Finland in the German protected states, is a very serious thing for the economic life and the whole future of Sweden," it says. "Finland and possibly Russia under German economic and political control are a menace to Sweden greater than any before. There are already indications to show that Germany is extending her new influence as far north as Spitzbergen. "If Finland forms an economic union with Germany, which, for anyone who knows Germany, will mean only that Finland becomes a German vassal state, this will have a great influence on the Swedish export market for timber, wood pulp, paper, etc., in which Sweden has heretofore competed with England. "The economic future of Sweden has been greatly shadowed by the events of the last few weeks. Whether it will have any political influence remains to be seen. "The Frankfurter (Germany) Zeitung says with regard to the German occupation of Åland that it has, of course, a far greater political than military character."

STAMPS AMERICAN REGIMENT ADOPTS FRENCH ORPHAN With the American Army in France, June 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Though the American troops have repeatedly made themselves extremely popular by their open-handed generosity to the natives among whom they happen to be quartered, it has remained for an artillery regiment to distinguish itself especially in this respect. The unit was quartered for some time in a little French town behind the front, and on the first evening found, almost dying from hunger, an eight-year-old boy whose mother had been killed at Verdun. The boy had wandered aimlessly about until he reached this town. He was unanimously adopted by the regiment, fed to satiety and made the mascot and idol of the men. The time came, however, very recently when the artillerymen had to leave for front service. To take the boy with them was out of the question. He had been given the nickname of "Pat" and they had grown so attached to him that they felt something must be done to assure his future.

So the men raised 2,000 francs with which "Pat" is to be cared for in a home and given at least a rudimentary education. They have gone on to the front, possibly never will see the little town again; but the town, and Pat, will not soon forget them.

STAMPS Y.M.C.A. WORKERS IN THICK OF BATTLE (By the Associated Press) Paris, June 20.—(By delayed cable)—In the last terrific drive when the Huns made their most frantic effort to break through along Alsace, American Y. M. C. A. secretaries distinguished themselves by their fearless co-operation with the French troops with which they were stationed. Thirty of the secretaries remained at their posts under heavy shell fire, retiring only when the troops retired, and acting as runners in the greatest danger, carrying food and supplies to the poilus after their own supplies had failed to reach them. The Americans made their way back and forth across fields swept by shrapnel, high explosive and machine gun fire carrying equipment and supplies, retreating and taking up new positions with the French troops. Ninety-three Y. M. C. A. stations have been destroyed or captured in the drive. Whenever possible the Americans in charge carried with them as much of the supplies and equipment as possible, leaving little to fall in the hands of the Huns. Three Y. M. C. A. warehouses were burned by Y. M. C. A. officials to prevent the stores in them falling in the hands of the Germans. Among the Americans who rendered splendid service are several women. Miss Marie C. Herron, sister-in-law of ex-President Taft and Miss Jane Bowler of Cincinnati, canteen workers, particularly distinguished themselves, laboring with wounded troops and refugees under heavy bombardment and with villages burning about them. Carl Little, of Brookfield, Mass., returned to an abandoned-burning village to rescue children.

Artificial Eyes for the Dead.
Oddly enough the first artificial eyes were not made for living persons but for the dead. In the days of the earliest Pharaohs the Egyptian embalmers removed the eyes of the defunct (for what would nowadays be called a "swell funeral") poured plaster or wax into the sockets and set in the latter eyes of volcanic glass or semiprecious stone of one kind or another.

If there is one parent $10 per month.
If there are two parents, $20 per month.

WHAT MISSOURI IS DO- ING TO WIN WAR

(By the Associated Press)
Jefferson City, Mo., June 20.—In complete figures compiled at the office of General James H. McCord, executive officer of the Missouri draft show that Missouri, in the year since the first registration has furnished a total of 35,103 men for the selected army. These are in addition to the 14,400 men of the National Guard, who were transferred to the federal service at the beginning of the year. There have been, also, several hundred men from this state who have volunteered for various branches of the federal service, and of whom there is no record in the office of the draft officer.

At the time of the first registration there were 301,000 men enrolled, and of these 66,000 were placed in Class No. 1 by the various boards. There are no figures available here to indicate the distribution of the remaining 235,000 among the various classes. Missouri's first quota in the selected army was 13,660 and for the second call 17,484. Of these latter, 1,041 negroes have not yet been summoned to camp.

The examining boards have passed upon approximately 280,000 claims for deferred classification, but figures as to the results of these examinations are not yet available, for the cases the district boards have acted on are not reported to the government officers. Figures are not available as to the number rejected, nor the number who failed to register.

The cost for the registering, examination, and inducting into the service of the first quota of 13,660 men was $8.30 for each man. Several boards made no charge for their services. Members of the local boards received $4 a day before December 1, 1917, when the plan was changed to allow each local board 30 cents a man for each one classified.

Coal Fire Undermines Vast Area.
Probably the greatest fire in the world is burning in southeastern Ohio, says H. H. Hocking in the July Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has been burning for more than 30 years and has been fed by more than 15,000,000 tons of the finest soft coal in the United States. The fire has spread over about 18 square miles of territory, and has actually consumed about 1,500 acres of a coal vein that in places is 15 feet in thickness, averaging 9-12 ft. So far the fire has defied every effort to extinguish it and promises to be still burning a hundred years hence. The coal vein that is burning is said by mining experts to be the finest vein in the Hocking Valley district, and perhaps the finest soft coal vein in the United States. It has been found impossible to smother the fire, either by enclosing it or by using chemicals. In one of the early attempts to extinguish the fire, water was pumped on it continuously for three years without visible effect. The fire was started simultaneously in seven big mines in the vein during the strike disturbances which occurred in 1884.

Every Day is Gardening Day.
"If the garden work is made literally a daily round, it is all much easier and is much more efficiently carried on," says the Garden Editor in the July Woman's Home Companion. "Neglect at any time is bad, but during the season of most rapid growth it is a catastrophe. Vegetables like beans that are allowed a day's leeway on seed formation immediately settle down to pouring all their energy into the task of maturing the seed already set, and fail utterly to keep on with the work of producing more seed. Not all will go on bearing throughout the summer; but for those that will, daily picking is almost essential. At most, not more than a day should elapse between pickings. If neglect is forced upon you, however, and anything that you have expected to yield all summer from the one sowing begins to ripen off, strip every seed pod from it, stir the soil over the surface around it, and see if it will not begin over again. Not infrequently this will happen."

The day after a hard rain is the one time when cultivation is most imperative, because the rain will have packed the surface of the soil down hard, and thus have put it into the most favorable condition for yielding up moisture to the sun. Get out with the cultivator, therefore, just as soon after a rain as the water has settled in and disappeared completely; and stir the surface to the depth of an inch, loosening all the earth particles so the moisture cannot pass from one to the next, and so up and away—and then your rainstorm will do the maximum amount of good."

ONE INDIAN MATCH

FOR TWENTY GERMAN'S
Mandan, N. D., June 20.—One North Dakota Indian is a match for 20 Germans according to a letter received here from Sgt. E. H. Tostevin, now in service in France. The Indian is Charlie Rogers, a full blooded Sioux of the Standing Rock Reservation, and a member of the 18th U. S. Infantry.

"You ought to have seen that Indian the first time the Boche made a raid on our trenches," writes Sergeant Tostevin. "He leaped over the parapet swinging his old rifle over his head. He let out a yell that he had saved for years, and it was a genuine war-whoop by one of the people who made war-whooping famous."

"The Huns were pretty close before we mixed. Rogers, of course, had his gun loaded with five rounds, and his bayonet fixed. After swinging his gun around his head a couple of times, he brought it down to his shoulders and emptied his shells at the enemy, swung it again, yelled and jabbed, and used the butt of his gun to smash the skull of another and my hands full all this time, but the crazed Indian's actions were so fast that we half watched him, Germans and we fellows alike. It was only a small fracas anyway. The 20 or more Germans who were left to beat it, beat it for their lives. Rogers never got a scratch. It was in fact very much a one-man scrap, almost an exhibition."

"I never saw a man move so fast in my life, and I guess the Germans hadn't either."

Rogers is now being utilized as a sniper, and is enjoying himself picking off enemy snipers, Sergeant Tostevin adds, and says that other Indians in the regiments are being used for scouting and patrol duty because of the natural instinct which fits them for this kind of work.
